Exam Preparation

Study and Practice

Study the knowledge contained within the online courses until you become deeply familiar with each topic. Read the supplemental materials recommended within the courses. Own the knowledge.

Practice utilizing the Systematic Assessment Protocol®. While the SAP has been designed so that anyone may enjoy its benefits, only the well-trained and highly practiced Ganjier will have the skills to leverage the tool to its fullest and most accurate potential.

Practice the art of successfully applying the Customer Interaction Protocol™. Continued application of the principles learned in the CIP™, either through practical workplace use or through the role play exercises, will sharpen your ability and prepare you for the day of the exam.

Successfully Pass the In-Person Knowledge, Service, and SAP® Exams

The three exams to become a Certified Ganjier will not be easy to pass. To become a Certified Ganjier will require you to demonstrate proficiency in the knowledge and skills that you've acquired.

The exams are thorough and rigorous. We recommend that you only book your exam date when you are fully confident that you are properly prepared.

It is not recommended to sit for the exams during the same week as your training. The ability to accurately assess cannabis flower (and concentrates) is a skill that is developed over time. Most critically, the Systematic Assessment Protocol® is a specialized tool that requires time and practice to fully master. A minimum of 24 completed SAP assessments is recommended prior to sitting for the exams.

Written Exam

A rigorous milestone that delivers on the standard that Ganjier aims to deliver – in person, closed book.

This 100 question, multiple choice exam, will include questions from the knowledge checks that were found in the online portion of the curriculum.

A score of 90% or greater will be required to pass this exam.

Service Exam

The Service exam will consist of a single role play scenario with an exam administrator. The scenario will last approximately 15 minutes. During this time, the aspiring Ganjier will utilize the Customer Interaction Protocol™ to identify the desired goals of the customer and accurately guide them in their product selection(s) according to the customer's budget.

Generic product props will be available for the role play scenario. The student will not be asked nor required to memorize the available products. Rather, the student will rely upon their knowledge of product category types (coupled with the desired outcome, quality, and budgetary requirements of the customer) to make a suitable recommendation.

Pass or Fail will be determined exclusively by the exam administrator. The exam administrator will notify the student immediately following the Service exam. Should the student fail the exam, the exam administrator will explain the exact reasoning behind the decision as well as offer guidance for improvement.

Assessment Exam

The Assessment exam has been designed to confirm the aspiring Ganjier's ability to accurately assess cannabis flowers and concentrates utilizing the Systematic Assessment Protocol[®].

The student will be assigned to assess an unidentified and blindly selected flower sample that has been pre-assessed by the Ganjier instructors. Examination samples will represent a broad range of quality, aroma, and flavor classes. Your ability to accurately assess and grade the sample will be required to pass this exam.

Each and every criteria within the Systematic Assessment Protocol[®] will be reviewed for accuracy against the standard established by the Ganjier Instructors. Students are allowed to miss no more than ONE criteria in each of the four categories in order to successfully pass this exam.
